By Accepting One Another

As we look back, we see the year as one of many experiences. We see ourselves not alone, but with our friends and surrounded by many different and exciting people. We picture ourselves in a confusing situation, then reaching out, asking, and searching to find. And yet, in the thought we see someone extending that helping hand and showing us the way. We realize the want and the need to communicate.

We awaken from our dream to confront the broadness of reality, and we conceive the hope that there have been others who have found the same answer. With the desire and the necessity for the help from the other person, and the willingness to be ready to share, we're gettin' it together for our tomorrow.

And Seeking To Be Involved

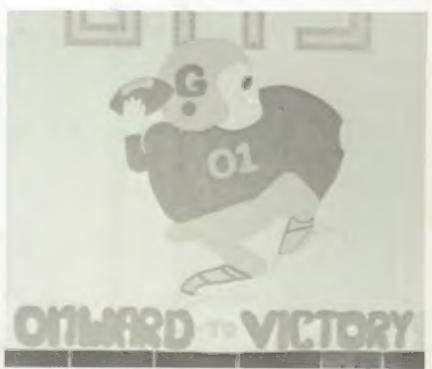

We're Learning To Share

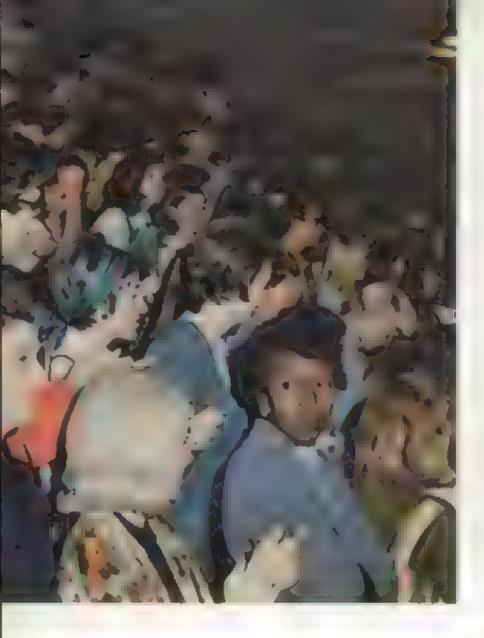

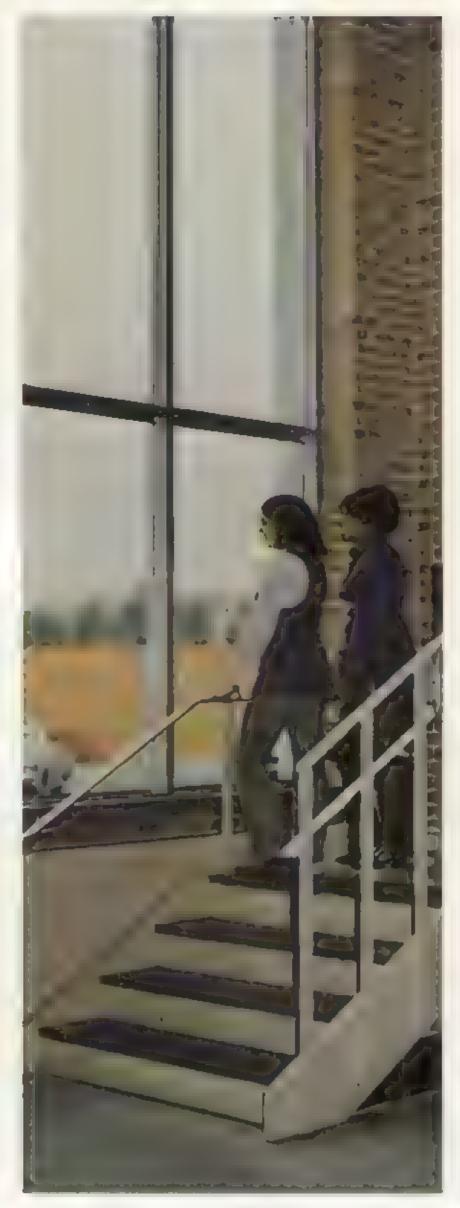

We're Gettin'

It Together

DEDICATION

Friendly, Youthful Berkley

We at Glenvar High School owe a great debt to the members of our faculty who strive to educate us. We've chosen to honor one of these faculty members.

As a teacher, he exemplifies the characteristics of friendliness yet firmness. His classes seem not only a time of learning, but a time to feel a part of what is happening. He loves to tell jokes, and he never forgets a student's name. He has a wellrounded personality and is respected by fellow faculty members.

As a person, he is a friend to all. He has the spirit of youth and readiness for action. His work and cooperation with his J.V. basketball team and his assistance with the varsity football team has brought him even closer to the students. Indeed he is the type of person who exhibits the qualities that have made him a part of Glenvar High School.

As a devoted family man, it is often we see him supported at games by his wife and his two children.

He has devoted a great part of his life in being concerned with others. Five years he has given to us, and so to him, Mr. Berkley Lucas, we give our dedication

Academics

"Class, get out your rules, a piece of paper and a pencil." And so began another day of Math class for the students at G.H.S. Math was offered at every grade level, with a variety of skills being taught. Seventh and eighth grade students worked with the basic skills of Mathematics. College bound students were offered courses in Algebra I and II and Geometry. They struggled with word problems, equations, and inequalities. The students were introduced to theorems and found themselves tackling the problems of proofs for homework.

Advanced courses, such as Math Survey and Trig, were available to interested students. Trig students were confronted with Cartesian sets while Math Survey students worked with cosines and tangents.

The Math Department was successful in its goal of teaching students that logic and reason were more important than memorization.

ENGLISH

Literature Aids Students

David Kingrey can't seem to pay attention to his literature book, no matter how hard he tries

Freshmen find that concentration is needed for their baglish test.

This year at Glenvar, students faced the perils of English grammar and literature. In the lower grades, students were taught grammar skills. They always looked for dangling participles and misplaced modifiers. Students were encouraged to broaden their vocabularies. They were found sweating over a test of definitions that they just simply forgot to look up. In the upper grades, students were encouraged to put their skills to use. They wrote creative short stories, themes, poems, and term papers.

Students also tackled the problems of literature. When they weren't having trouble figuring out a modernist, they were attempting to understand the classics. The styles varied from "Romeo and Juliet" to "Our Town." As a result, Glenvar students entered the world prepared to communicate.

Labs Utilized By Students

Randy Wright and Mariene Pankey work industriously in Physics Lab

Dissecting earthworms, looking at chick embryos, counting fruit flies, or watching microscopic amebas—these were part of the biology labs '70-'71. Lectures on ecology and conservation, walks on the nature trail, and trying to understand why people litter our highways were another part of the year. Finally the students reached their goal of partially understanding how our world functions.

Learning the fundamentals of levers, the principles of centrifugal force, the basic ideas of electricity, and the workings of magnetisms were all learned in labs. These ideas and laws were things they could apply not only later in life but now when they needed it most.

SOCIAL STUDIES

Negro History Emphasized

Sandy Grice finds that newspapers help in studying

Barbara Croy studies hard to make a passing grade

Students taking Social Studies learned the history of yesterday and how it can affect tomorrow. In the classroom, teachers emphasized Negro history so that all students, black and white, would be able to understand the role of the Negro in world history. The government students learned how the founding fathers of the United States fought to establish a union, and became acquainted with the principles on which they based the government.

Guest speakers came to many classes and expressed their ideas. Newspapers and Newsweek magazines were used to enlighten the students in history as it was being made. Many new records and filmstrips were used to aid the students as they studied the past. The government classes took a trip to Richmond where they were able to study the state government first hand. Other history classes went to Old Salem, North Carolina where they were shown the living environment of our forefathers. As students finished their Social Studies courses they became more aware of the world around them.

Students Begin

Glenvar's foreign language department included a three-year program in both Spanish and French. The first year students struggled through the year with the help of tapes, flash cards, and records. They were mainly concerned with pronunciation. The second year students probed deeply into grammar, while the third-year classes ventured into the cultural arts.

This year the drama class helped the Thespians produce the full length play, "Life In A Rabbit Hutch." In class they studied music and the history of the theatre, together with courses in acting, producing, directing, set building, writing, and make-up. The class provided a resource area for the Thespians when they searched for labor and talent.

To Unveil Hidden Talents

Ronnie Smith adds the finishing touches to his sketch.

Glenvar's art department included a two year program. The first year students started by drawing basic objects like faces and progressed to shading. The program also included collages, pastels, pen and inks, acrylics, watercolors, and for the advanced students, oils.

The second year art students found that it wasn't just an ordinary review but one with much profoundness. The students experimented in mosaics, paper mache', clay, and linoleum prints. The new concept of batik was introduced, and the students experimented by decorating scarves and blue jeans. They worked the majority of their time on individual projects. Both first and second year students were required to have one sketch a week to develop their shading.

Valerie Pendleton and Vickie Dyson master the art of bast-

"Alright girls, I mean boys and girls, let's go into the kitchen." That was a typical comment made in Home Ec. The kitchen was a small part of the things they did.

The students learned how to operate the washers and dryers and other household equipment. Much of their time was spent in the classroom listening to lectures on child care and family finances.

They hated the days they had kitchen labs. Eat what you cook? How can you? The lumpy, salty puddings, the brownie pies, everything had to be eaten in 5 minutes and cleaned up before the bell rang. At the end of class all they had succeeded in doing was getting an upset stomach.

They went on field trips to Rowe Furniture Company and ValleyDale Meat Packing Plant. They held a mother-daughter (or son) banquet and had a fashion show

Everyone found it interesting and a new experience. Both sexes alike had to put all their domestic skills together to pass Home Economics.

First Aim—A Clipboard

This past year in shop the students accomplished all of their goals. They began constructing simple projects such as clipboards and pencil holders. From there they went to electricity and its basic principles, which led to construction of an electric motor. Next they were taught how to operate and use industrial machinery. The year ended with the self satisfaction of using their developed skills.

BUSINESS

Clerical typing class proves hard work for students.

Pat Forlines types for a time test,

This year many students were faced with a new, challenging experience which brought them confidence, maturity, and, best of all, a little extra money. The experience? Becoming a part of the massive working world. But as the year came to an end, these students realized they had just begun. There were many more things to learn in the world of business.

Students were offered valuable vocations at Roanoke County Educational Center. They learned about data processing, cosmetology, nursing, and other professions. Students were also involved with club activities at RCEC. The F.B.L.A. and the V.I.C.A. were two clubs the students participated in.

The student council played a key part in the life at RCEC. It included every student and planned the extra-curricular and service activities for the school. Some of these activities included a talent show, bake sales, and a "Tacky Day".

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Tide Of The Battle Turns

Billy Duvall gets ready to measure broad jump of a gym student

Sissy Fischer does her thing with a tennis racket!

The battleground was the gymnasium or the football field. The generals were the gym instructors. The weapons? The mile, the balancing beam, vollyball nets, tennis courts and wrestling mats. The gym instructors were in a war on the weak. They worked long hours to condition bodies to the strain of school days. Working with individuals, they showed the correct way to serve a vollyball or escape a pinning hold. The students all earned their battle scars: pulled muscles, scraped knees, bloody noses, and jammed fingers. It was hard at first, and it took a while for the tide of the battle to turn, but eventually they all were in good shape. They proudly wore their well-deserved medals, an A in P.E.! Seldom did they think of the good it did. But maybe, when they sprinted up a hill and thought they could do it again, maybe then was when they thought they'd won the battle.

Paralle parking is essential

DRIVER'S EDUCATION

Training Aids New Drivers

As the student received his driver's training certificate, he looked back on all he had accomplished and felt he really deserved it. He remembered when he had gotten in the car to drive for the first time, and followed the instructions of the driver » aide, adjusted the rear mirror, fastened his seat belt, and started the car. Yes, he had been nervous and even, he had to admit, a bit scared. But he had progressed from that point to driving on the range and then on the highway. From there he learned to park and even to back up around the driveway in front of the school. He had learned what to do in case of an accident or other emergency. It had been hard. It had taken a lot of work and concentration, but now that it was over, he really felt ready and self-confident about going to take the test to get his drivers license.

Change keynoted the character of the 70-71 Administration. This change was evident from the year's beginning when Glenvar received a new Assistant Principal, Mr. Jerry Ford.

Our principal, Mr. Verner Crush and assistant principal Mr. Bates R. Killinger saw change in other ways. Glenvar's strict dress code was lifted to enable slacks to be worn by girls. Mr. Crush showed the diversity of his office when he solidly backed the Seniors in their quest for privileges.

As attendance officer, Mr. Ford had it tough, but with the help of both the telephone and his senior assistants he did endure.

Mr. Killinger went about the same routine so common yet so necessary to secondary education.

They were a valuable asset to Glenvar, and many thanks went for their work.

GUIDANCE DEPARTMENT

Counselor's Aid Invaluable

Mrs. Johnson assists Benny Jefcoat with his schedule for next year

The Guidance Department at G.H.S. proved to be one of the most valuable departments in the school this year. The department was well aware of its importance in shaping the future of Glenvai students and worked deligently at its job. Whether the counselors were conducting STEP and SCAT tests or going over College Boards with Juniors and Seniors, you could be sure that they were busy

The students were aware of the fact that they could go to the guidance counselors at any time, and they used the privilege many times. Although their work often went unnoticed, the students were aware of the advantages they had in having Mr. Dupree, Mrs. Johnson, and Mrs. Follmar as Guidance Counselors.

The English Department consisted of eleven teachers whose primary responsibility was the instruction in the English language and Literature.

The department sought to accomplish its goals through various and varied methods. The standard texts, paperbacks, newspapers, magazines, and audio-visual materials provided enjoyment along with learning for the students. Other than the required English courses, the department created a new reading program. Head of the department, Mr. James Cromer, felt that this was the biggest accomplishment of this past year

The Social Studies Department at Glenvar strived to guide their students toward an understanding of themselves as citizens in their community, state, and nation. Student involvement was emphasized by adding a completely new black study, mock trials, debates, term papers, individual research, group work, class discussions, field trips, and audio visual aids. The elective courses of sociology and psychology explained man in society and his relationship to other people.

MATH DEPARTMENT

Math Club is Reformed

The biggest project of the Math Department this year was the "re-forming" of the Math Club. It was divided into a junior and senior section with Miss Ankron as the sponsor of the junior section and Mrs. Barille as the senior section sponsor

Another interesting happening in the department was the use of tapes in the Algebra I classes. The set of tapes corresponded to the lessons in the Algebra I book. There was a booklet in which the student followed along with the man on the tape. The tapes worked really well, especially when the student was sincerely concerned about improving his understanding.

Valuable To Science Staff

The Science Department introduced students to the various fields of science courses offered at Glenvar. The courses started in the eighth grade and continued to Physics for juniors and seniors. Students in Physics gained valuable knowledge in fields of electricity, light, and magnetism. Chemistry introduced science students to the structure of the physical and metaphysical world. Biology students learned of vital life processes, conservation, ecology, and evolution. I.P.S. students were introduced to their first lab science, while Earth Science gave general knowledge of the earth's development. The instructors prepared laboratory experiments and field trips to aid in their course instruction.

Physical Education was taught from all angles and in all kinds of weather, as teachers tried to convey ideas of being physically fit. Everyday teachers escorted their students to the football fields or tennis courts to begin the day's activities. On the colder days the gym was used as students learned the fundamentals of basketball and volleyball. The Staff used records to aid the students in exercises. In the classrooms the teachers continued to do exceptional work as they taught health, first aid, and driver's education.

This year three new teachers came to Glenvar with promising new ideas. There was also some new equipment to add to the Physical Education Department.

Miss Dale E. Smith (Radford College, B.S., F B L.A.)

The teachers of the Business Department worked hard this year to prepare students for the outside world. Valuable skills were acquired in Shorthand and Typing classes. Equally valuable knowledge was obtained in the Distributive Education and General Business classes.

"Get ready for a timed writing" or "Let's take dictation" were typical instructions heard many times this year from business teachers. These teachers displayed great amounts of patience in explaining business math, income taxes, in checking countless papers for typing errors, and in dictating an endless number of letters for Shorthand transcription.

The Art and Drama Departments strove to develop hidden talents in all students. In Art, every type of technique was experienced. Students tried their hands at oils, pastels, pen and ink, and water colors. Under the instruction of Miss Dianne Watts, each attempt became a success.

The Drama classes offered experience in acting, backstage work, and over all play production. M.s. Anne Clayton took over the department this year. The students were required to do spur-of-the-moment skits also. This demanded quick thinking and good imagination as well as entertainment for the rest of the class.

LANGUAGE DEPARTMENT

New Language Labs Added

Mrs. Eileen Wise (B.S. Radford College, Foreign Language League Sponsor) Miss Kathryn Reynolds (B.A. Mary Washngton of Unif Van Deer eager Sponsor

Glenvar's Foreign Language Department is growing. In 1970-1971 the French department was expanded from a two-year program to include a new course in third-year French. In addition to this expansion, the French department also enlarged its audio-visual resources.

The Spanish department, also a three-year program, increased in the number of students enrolled. Audit Evisual resources included a complete film-strip series on the Spanish countries of South America

Both departments, as well as GHS, boasted the addition of a thirty-stall language lab, complete with headsets and a versatile control panel.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT

Band & Choir-An Asset to GHS

The Music Department at Glenvar High School proved again to be an asset to the student body and the community. The Chorus, led by Miss Dreama Dudley, presented a number of concerts to the school and the public.

The band, directed by Mr. Wilbur Grant, was invited back to the Apple Blossom Festival. This was a great honor, as only a few schools were invited to perform at this event. In order to raise the necessary funds, the band presented a 1970 Dodge Demon as the door prize at the Christmas Concert.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS DEPARTMENT

Students Deal In Crafts

First year shop was of an exploratory nature. Each of the nine weeks was divided into different sections. The first nine weeks dealt mainly on working with drawings, which is the basis for all shop activity. During the second nine weeks, the students were exposed to wood working tools. They built clip boards and other simple items to familiarize themselves with the art of woodworking. In the third nine weeks, each student built a simple electric motor and studied its function. The final nine weeks was spent using soft metal in making towel racks and plant holders.

The second year classes were concerned entirely with woodworking. They were able to develop their talents in varied projects.

HOME ECONOMICS DEPARTMENT

Fun, Food, and Fashion

Mrs. Cobble (B.S. East Tennessee State University) and Miss Tate (B.S. Radford College) are the sponsors of the Future Homemakers of America.

The Home Economics Department offered courses and experiences that were both interesting and beneficial to teenage girls.

Glenvar's Home Economics Department had a sequential program of Home Economics I. II, and III. The goal for Home Economics was to provide opportunities to help each student to be a responsible family member and to teach the skills and knowledge of homemaking.

The Home Economics Department also offered valuable experiences in Home Management for both girls and boys. This year, the department had a special course, Family Living, for Junior and Senior boys who wanted to learn about managing the home.

Mrs. Cobble takes time to explain to Valerie Pendleton her grade for the nine weeks.

DRIVER EDUCATION DEPARTMENT

Students Take To The Road

This year the responsibility of teaching Glenvar's youth the art of driving was placed in the capable hands of Mrs. Clara Sublett and Mr. Steve Hyer. During a seven day instruction period, students were taught how to park, drive busy city streets, read road signs, be prepared to handle emergencies, plus many more skills and techniques.

Experienced drivers were turned out after the course had been completed. Glenvar became better prepared for the hazards and responsibilities of today's hectic traffic.

STUDENT TEACHERS

Experience Is Gained

David Blevins (VPI), Antia VanDyke (Radford), Susan Shell (Radford), Deborah Kraut (Radford), Linda Nissel (Radford), Nancy Habertstroh (VPI).

As in the previous years at GHS, a constant flow of student teachers kept the daily routine ever changing. Every department received at least one student teacher, or at times as many as three. Using new methods and ideas, each student teacher taught his subject in a way that was most beneficial for student and teacher. They gained confidence in themselves and earned respect from the student body. This new experience in teaching proved beneficial to America's Future Teachers.

The Roanoke County Educational Center met the needs of those students who were not college bound. Many individuals felt that college was not the answer for them and decided instead that their future should extend in the direction of labor and skilled crafts. So in their Junior year, these students went to RCEC and began their training in various fields. These fields lead to occupations in cosmetology, nursing, masonry, data processing, drafting, mechanics, and electricity. After a very thorough, two-year study, Roanoke County Educational Center graduates were ready to face the world of labor.

The custodians had the big jobs of cleaning the building. Their counter-part, the maid, helped in these chores. The night watchman was in sole charge of protecting this, the institute of learning.

SENIOR CLASS

Our Senior Year...

We came to Glenvar so small, so unaware, that we hardly noticed the life around us in which we became so sincerely involved. Our five years of learning were trans of maturing and ones to which we now look back and smile

The memory of our Senior year is one of so many happenings. We strived for the best and maintained our feelings of superiority. We sought wisdom and strength and learned to accept individuals as themselves, not as we thought they should be. We grew and took the curves whichever way they went. We learned to be aware, to be understanding, but no matter what, to be happy.

I broughout our Senior year, we accepted Glenvar as a special kind of place, perhaps because it was where the best days of our lives were spent. We can now feel that as Seniors we all share a common thing—memories of all of us—together.

Tomorrow we shall leave, but we shall never say goodbye.

JUNIOR CLASS

Our Year of the Prom!

Class officers: Melody Shelor, Vice-President; Betty Tingler, Secretary; Ellen Green, Trensurer; Karen Jones, President

As our first year of being upperclassment came to an end, we found ourselves looking back at our accomplishments.

The fall of the year began with three major projects. The magazine sale helped boost the Junior treasury for the prom. A stationery sale and the publication of the student directory were completed in late fall.

Spring brought many new challenges along with many new activities. Preparation for college and college boards were begun. Activities included the Junior-Senior football game, the Miss Groovy Teen contest, and the Junior class play.

The high ight of our year was the Junior Semor Prom. Through hard work and a lot of given time, we made the '71 Prom a success

We looked at our class rings and remembered our Junior year with pride.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

Sophomores Sponsor Buses to

Fran Richardson, President: Mary Campbell, Vice-President; Debbie Martin, Secretary; Gail Jones, Treasurer

Our Sophomore year was a turning point for maturity, respectsibility, awareness, and the high school way of life. We were faced with more opportunities and problems of our school.

We sponsored buses to away games and won the spark plug. This accredited us as the most spirited class in the school. Being sophomores, we breathed a sigh of relief in completing our final year of Physical Ed. During the year we were confronted with problems from both upper and lower classmen. We tried to help the younger classmen with their everyday problems. As the year came to an end, the glorious and happy moments that we experienced this year will never be forgotten.

FRESHMAN CLASS

Spirit and Determination

The wind that hurridly swept us high and mighty Freshmen from our eighth grade year to our ninth grade year brought with it more than knowledge and opportunity. It carried a name. We were no longer eighth graders, but Freshmen. Along with our name came new subjects and more important decisions. Should it be Algebra I or Math 9? French I or Spanish I? Should it be a business course or an academic course? The decision made prepared us for our years after high school.

As Freshmen we were truly a part of Glenvar. We participated in athletic and scholastic activities. We supported the S.C.A. and other clubs in the money making projects. When the end of the year approached, we looked back on it as a year of maturing and looked forward to an even more exciting sophomore year.

As we look back on our Eighth Grade Year, we find it was a year of enthusiasm. We attended the various activities, and cheered our team through victory and through defeat. Sometimes we even showed upper classmen what true Glenvar spirit was. We were able to support our school in different money-making projects.

We gained acceptance from the upperclassmen by participating in clubs and sports. We possessed at art of moving through a crowd in half the time it took the older, more experienced students

By the end of the year we felt that we were really part of the student body at GHS. We looked forward to our Freshman year

SEVENTH GRADE

Our First Year At Glenvar

This year opened many new doors to us. The idea of attending a high school was new and at first baffling. It took time for us to get used to the routine at Glenvar; to being massacred in the halls, to be able to open our lockers on the first try, and to learn where each hall lead.

For the first time we were able to participate in the high school activities. There were so many clubs to join and just not enough time for them all. Football and basketball games proved to be much more fun when you was a stade at

As the year came to a close, we realized all it had meant—all the studying, the fun, and all the growing up. We also found a great pride in ourselves, our school, and our class.

This need was met with the aid of voluntary students. These students served in jobs ranging from gym assistants to office aides. Their duties ran from collecting absentee forms to teaching an underclassman how to shoot a basketball

JV's Unite Lower Classmen

The Junior Varsity Cheerleaders supported Glengal's activities with a great deal of pep and enthusiasm. They attended N.C.A. VARSITY FOOTBALL

Season Starts With

Our football squad this year was the most competitive it had been since Glenvar's football program started. Although the coaches and teams were not pleased with their 3-7 record, there was hardly a district game that was out of the Highlander's reach until the closing seconds in the fourth quarter. We were able to start a winning tradition in the new Glenvar stadium with a 34-8 rout over Roanoke Catholic. The team was able to turn a 70-0 embarassing loss in 1969 to the Addison Bulldogs into a revengeful win in the 1970 season, Another bright spot in the 1970 season was the selection of Dallis Hollandsworth by the Roanoke Values sports writers for his outstanding offers ve performance in the Highlander win over Wil am Byrd, as he was chosen Offensive Player of the Week, Also he was selected by his teammates, for the second time, as the most valuable player for the 1970 season

The dark spots for the 1970 season include the three of our four losses which occurred in the last two minutes of the games. The darkest of these was our Homecoming defeat which came in the last thirty seconds of the game.

The Highlanders finished fourth in the district in 1970 but look for a bright 1971 season with a nucleus of fourteen seniors and twenty-two juniors.

The Highlander Offense

This year Glenvar's Homecoming Game was played on its own field for the first time. We had high hopes as this year's team looked like a winner. Dallis Hollandsworth and Rick Sturgill gave GHS the lead at the end of the first half. But the Mountaineers scored and won the game in the last 10 seconds, by a score of 14-13. We were all disappointed but very proud of the effort by our team

This Season

The 1970 J.V. Football team did not win a game but still achieved much success. All of its competition was against AAA teams, The J.V.'s finished with three defeats and two ties but showed that there is great hope for the future. The 1970 J.V. had twenty-seven players, the most players there have ever been in the history of G.H.S. Many of the group were ninth graders, thereby giving hope for a successful season in 1971. All the boys worked hard and learned well the techniques and fundamentals needed for the future development of football at G.H.S. Overall, Coach Hyer felt much was acquired this year, and he feels these boys as well as the returning varsity boys will bring Glenvar its first Blue Ridge District Championship.

The high scoring was shared by Mark Nichols. Mike Lucado, Jimmy Garst, Barry Parr, and Ricky Crotts.

Through much gladly-given time and effort, the Freshman Football team made a worthwhile year out of 1970. The year began with long, hard practices and hard work. Toward the end of their season, the team realized that their efforts had paid off. The boys first year at football had proven successful. Under the guidance of their coach, Mr. Jerry Strong, they had gained much experience and knowledge of the sport. The season resulted in two victories and four losses.

Made Against District Foes

Teamwork is the essence of victory in all team competition. This teamwork accounted for the twelve victories achieved by the Highlander Varsity Squad, the most victories in one season by any basketball effort from Glenvar.

There was an athletic chant that had a lot to say about an effort of togetherness. It was used to remind individuals of their duty to the squad. Honest and valid, it states: "One for all, and all for one." Each individual for the all of the team, the unity of a team for competition's highest goal-victory.

Glenvar's 70-71 team did achieve this unity at times, and it took them a long way. Its individuals were very important, but its teamwork was the clincher. Together the Highlanders held the Blue Ridge offensive point average with a strong 78.5 team point average per outing. Together they declared, and proved themselves mighty contenders in high school competition.

Valuable Experience

Steve Nichola scores two as Mike Flinchum and Barry Mason took on.

Tracy Poff jumps high attempting to get the ball

The Freshman cagers, coached by Mr. Steve Hyer, put it together and finished the year with a winning record and a basic understanding of the fundamentals of basketball. Our freshmen competed against triple-A teams in two-thirds of the rigames, thereby providing a tough schedule. This year the team defeated Franklin County twice, a feat which had never been accomplished before. The experience gained by this year's team should provide a strong foundation to continue the Freshmen winning streak and finally furnish a basis for Junior Varsity and Varsity play.

Wrestling was a peculiar sport in 70-71. It placed one individual against another, and yet at the same time united those persons into a team effort. Individualism was the important part of the clash, because it was the individual achievement that determined the team's success

Glenvar was very successful with both its single and its united causes. The team was able to boast two undefeated matmen, one of whom was credited with 13 pins. The squad's success came in many ways. It was the Highlander middle and heavy-weight wrestlers who handed Northside its second loss in 67 matches. By that 22-20 thriller, GHS took from the Vikings a four year old crown, the city-county championship.

Glenvar hosted the Blue Ridge District Tournament, and as expected came out the victor. This goal was met through seven first places, one second and two thirds. Regional competition proved to have the same overall results as district, as the Highlanders finished number one.

Fauquier High School was the setting of the final, and most successful point in the 70-71 effort. Eight Glenvar wrestlers made their way either to the finals, or to the consolation matches. At the conclusion of a great season, four of these eight became State champions. One placed third, and the other three boasted fourth place State finishes.

Through much toil and trouble, twenty-four men and a coach jelled themselves into a wrestling unit. The results were worth the effort: Glenvar became the State's Wrestling Champion.

Girls were given the chance to part cipate in various specits this year. There were two competitive volleyball teams, Junior Varsity and Varsity. There were also two competitive basketball and gymnastic teams. They met in competition with teams from other area schools. Girls were also given the chance to demonstrate their athletic ability in intramurals. All teams showed a lot of spirit and enthusiasm throughout the year. New uniforms were purchased for the gymnastic team along with other equipment for the teams. The year proved to be successful for girls' athletics

SCA Cleans Up The State

The Glenvar SCA kicked off its year with a comb sale for their major money-making project Students all over the school scanned Salem in support of this project. Later in the year the annual student exchange day was held. Students from all the area high schools attended Glenvar for one day Next came the Christmas Dance which was solely supported by the SCA. Glenvar's SCA participated in State Clean-up Week. The year terminated with the election of new officers and the foresight of a new and more exciting year in 1970.

The Marching Green and Gold won the respect, honor and pride of everyone in the community. This year they displayed their talent at pep rallies, football games, parades and concerts. With the help of leaders Wilbur E. Grant and Buddy Hill, the band performed in precise form. With all of the members' enthusiasm, the band cheered the team and also won the spark plug. During Christmas they marched through the brutality of the Christmas Parades. At their winter concert, a Dodge Demon was given away and the band gave a fine concert. They also marched in the Dogwood Festival, Shrine Bowl Parade, and Apple-Blossom Parade. A spring concert was given to honor the outgoing Seniors

MONOGRAM CLUB

Athletes Display Success

M agrational A florest was Books De bus hat her me Dave Cole.

Athletic success was the goal and the achievement of all members of the Highlander Monogram Club. This success served as the unity that the organization was based upon. Its members came from both athletes and the cheerleading squad.

The only requirement for membership in 70-71 was for the athletes to give at least one long season of constant physical hardship from long brutal practices. Then they had to give their best in trying to put it all together for a few short games of interscholastic competition. Their only rewards included a little attention and a green cloth "G". Athletes sometimes thought it hardly worth the time, trouble, and physical punishment; yet they always showed up at the next practice session ready to achieve victory for their Alma Mate:

Cheerleaders were included because cheerleading, in itself, was a challenge. It took a lot of stamina to participate in three or more functions in one week, giving their all to try to create at least one ounce of spirit in support of a team.

Things To Do, Places To Go,

Things to do, places to go, people to see. How well that phrase seemed to fit the 1970-71 Crisader staff. There was always so much to be done, and so little time to do it in. It seemed impossible to get everything done by deadline time. Copy was never ready and ads just weren't coming in like they should. But, there was always Sharon Glass, our editor; Pat Huffman, Business Manager; and our sponsors Mrs. Newell and Mrs. Huffman to help if there was any problem.

Much time and effort was put into the Cronader, and it was a year that not many staff members will forget. But, no matter how hard we worked, there was always time to get it together with a party.

After many hours of hard work, many tensionfilled moments, long discussions, short conflicts, and noisy parties, The Thistle went to press a total of seven times.

It was an experimental year and a great challenge in trying to reach out to the students of GHS through their newspaper. Under the supervision of Mrs. Toni Perry and the guidance of the editor, Karen Dame, each staff member worked towards a goal of perfection.

The student-faculty game in the spring provided extra funds for the publication of the newspaper and amusement for the students and teachers as well. The staff overcame many obstacles such as lack of funds, broken typewriters, and late deadlines in its attempt to communicate with the students

The Bagpipe is Glenvar's literary and art publication. It began the 1970-71 year with much anticipation of its fifth successful year of publication. The Bagpipe collected the literary and art work of both the student body and the staff members, and compiled the work into both an interesting and excellent magazine.

The Bagpipe was sponsored by Miss Barbara Tabor, and had Vickie Lambert as its editor for the 1970-71 year. Throughout the year, the staff members worked hard at selling ads and judging the work of the students. The staff also sponsored a car wash and other money making projects in order to raise funds for the magazine

The purpose of the National Junior Honor Society was to develop the virtues of leadership, character, scholarship, service, and citizenship. One strived to achieve a good balance of all five. Selection was eligible to the students who had these characteristics and were in the ninth or tenth grade.

Their community and school projects included sponsoring an underprivileged family and purchasing a state flag. In the spring a cook-out was held Meetings consisted of various programs, including slides from the Middle East, a tour of the European countries, and a talk on drugs. A more informal approach was used, and this appealed to the members. The National Junior Honor Society worked as an enthusiastic team trying to achieve their goals.

Miss Watkins, Sponsor, plans field trip.

The Science Club held one main purpose this year, and that was to promote the interest of science in the students of G.H.S. The club was open to all students, and formed a very large club. The club participated in science fairs, paper competition, and monthly meetings. At their meetings, they had guest speakers such as Mr. Akers from NASA. This year they sponsored the first county-wide invitational science fair in the area. The members of the club went on a field trip to Saltville and V.P.I. They also sponsored a Thanksgiving Hop as a money-making project. The Science Club belongs to the Virginia Junior Academy of Science.

The Forensics Club consisted of members who shared an interest in prose and poetry. They met several times a month in attempts to understand the basic forms of literature.

The club was sponsored by Miss Bohart, an English teacher at G.H.S., and was led by the President. Keith Hartless

The club strove to achieve proficiency in public speaking, clear thinking, and interesting oral presentation. All the practice led up to a single goal, the Blue Ridge District Forensics Tournament in the spring. The members were rewarded for their efforts with their annual spring picnic.

This year, the Debate Club studied the topic of Federal controls over air and water pollution. In preparing the cases, the members learned how to get all the current information available on the subject, as well as long standing information. They also found out much about the present policies of the U.S. government, and how they can be improved upon

Later in the year, they debated other teams in the district. This was where all of their long efforts paid off

The year the choir, under the direction of Miss Dreama Dudley, proved to be a valuable asset to the school. They were always willing to serve in school assemblies, and they presented some very beautiful performances to both the school and the public. The choir elected officers and was capably led by their president, Debbie Chisom

The Glenvar Chorus was composed of both Junior and Senior sections. One of the outstanding presentations of the choir was their Christmas performance. The Senior chorus presented the cantata, "Born A King", and the Junior chorus presented a selection of Christmas favorites. The choir worked hard to gain ability and experience in their talent.

Homecoming, October 16, 1970 . . . events which again became an exciting part of GHS life. They began with the bonfire held the night before the game. The football captains together threw in the tire a dummy of a Clifton Forge player.

Friday afternoon a pep rally was held, and football players as well as Homecoming Court members were honored. Later, preceding the game, a motorcade consisting of the cheerleaders on a bright dune-buggy and the girls on the court on sports cars paraded through Salem to Glenvar's new stadium.

The right marked arother first for Glenvar, as it was the first variety game played on the new field. During halftime activities the Maid of Honor and 1970 Homecoming Queen were crowned, and the Prince and King announced.

The following night the Homecoming Dance sponsored by the cheerleaders was held at the school in honor of the court and alumni. Both nights were truly ones to be remembered.

Opportunity For The Graduate

In 1882 Edison had a great idea.

And it wasn't the electric light.

The whole idea of investor-ownership of electric light and power companies began when Thomas A. Edison and a group of investors financed his first power plant more than 80 years ago.

Since then, investor-owned companies like ours have become an integral part of America's Free Enterprise system. That explains why today we have at our finger-tips more electric power than any other country in the world.

And it's this same Free Enterprise system that puts at your fingertips greater opportunity, greater expectation for success than can be hoped for by any other young people in the world.

GLENVAR HIGH SUPPLEMENT

Spring Comes to G. H. S.

Spring arrived at G.H.S. with an air of uncertainty for Seniors, anticipation for Juniors, and a hope of a better tomorrow for the Underclassmen Reflections of yesterday took hold of the minds of graduating Seniors as they looked for answers to unspoken questions. Could the answers be found in an old yesterday of proms, baseball games, class rings, and exams, or was it to be found in a new tomorrow filled with hopes, dreams, and perfected visions? Only the future holds the answers to these questions, and the Senior class began to live their futures as they left G.H.S. together for the last time as the class of '71

Golf Team Matures In Style

Mike Waters demonstrates the correct way to tee off

As the golf team entered their second year, they increased in size and maturity in the sport. They gained experience in style, rhythm, and knowledge. This year they beat several of the larger schools and came up with four wins and six losses for the season. Bill Gibbs paced the way for the team, but Mike Waters improved tremendously and held the number two spot. At the end of the year, Bill Gibbs was voted Most Valuable Player in Golf.

TENNIS

Tough, But Still Winners

Regger Her K staws h s so

This year the tennis team was the hardluck team at GHS. Although they tallied a 2-6 record at the end of the season, they still captured second place in the district. Bobby Martin was chosen Most Valuable Player.

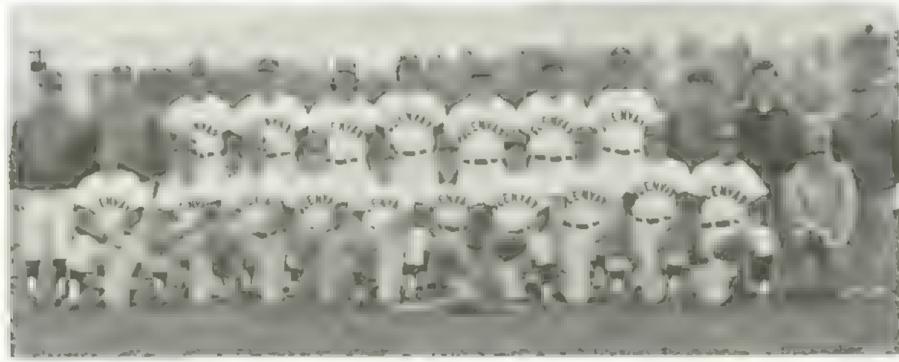

The team lacked support and players. This year they lost seven of their lettermen, leaving only four to return. Co-operation is going to be needed by the student body in order for a successful tennis team to compete for GHS

Team Improves Defense

This year's baseball team finished the season with a 5-7 record. They finished third in the City-County and had outstanding stars in Sandy Hill and Scott Atkins. Sandy led the team with a .385 batting average and was chosen as the team's Most Valuable Player.

Dickie Boreson demonstrates the coordination needed in pole vaulting

Bruce Phiegar and Chip Malus take time out to discuss the track meet

The Glenvar track team ended the season with a good 4-4 record. The team scored victories against Covington and Clifton Forge while losing to such track powers as William Byrd, Addison, and Jefferson. The team participated in the district, regional, and state track meets. Dan Gearheart was the outstanding man this year, pacing the team with impressive victories at all meets. The J.V. track team captured the district championship and will add strength to the varsity next year.

"We've Only Just Begun"

The third Gleival High School Junior-Senior Prom took place May 15, 1971, in the school gym Music for the prom was provided by "Georgia", a band from Augusta, Georgia. The theme "We've Only Just Begun", and the color scheme was lavender and pink. The Junior class decorated the lobby and the inside of the gym as a spring park scene. Even though it was raining outside, inside there was a sense of gaiety while the students danced in the spring atmosphere

GRADUATION

The End of the Beginning

The choir sings farewell to graduating seniors

The Commencement Exercises for the Class of 1971 were held Tuesday, June 8, in the Glenvar gym, After an inspiring speech by State Senator David Thornton, 170 Seniors received their diplomas. They then stood as a group and turned their tassels from the right to left, an action which marked them as graduates
